

STRIKE ENDS AT GLENWOOD

Sidewalk and Street Controversy Is Adjusted by Mutual Agreement

LAW SUIT WITHDRAWN

Little Burg Is "Looking Up" Since the Red Line Came to Town

Word comes from Glenwood to the effect that peace reigns in that little town after many months of quarreling about the proposed street improvements now under way in the burg.

In the improvement it was necessary to make the streets wider, and in doing this it was again necessary to set back some front fences which it was discovered were out beyond the property line decided on. Of course some objection to this was made and as a consequence several law suits have been filed and other disturbances threatened.

At last, however, it is said that all the property owners have agreed to the common improvement and that the suits filed will be withdrawn, and the improvements allowed to proceed without delay.

Glenwood has become quite a prosperous place since the advent of the traction line and the road is doing the town a lot of good. People who never came there before are now frequent visitors to the place, where they take the cars, and the business men say they profit considerably on this account.

The fact that the town is soon to have a bank will add to its business importance, and the concern will be of great convenience to the business men of the place, and the farmers of the vicinity.

JONES LEADS THE WESTERN CIRCUIT

Rushville Driver the Largest Winner of Races and Money This Season

Harrie Jones, of this city, was the largest money winner at the Hamline, Minn., State fair the past week, winning in purses $3400, with his stable of trotters and pacers. Every horse he started was in the money and none of them farther back than third. This speaks well for Rush county. He was not only the largest money winner at the Minnesota State fair, but is one of the largest money winners in the Great Western Circuit, where they are going as fast this season as in the Grand Circuit. He is at Milwaukee, Wis., this week and will finish through the grand circuit from there, going to Columbus, Ohio next week, then to Lexington, Ky., where his stable is engaged in several of the large stakes. "Hazel Grattan," with Jones up, won the 2:25 $1000 trotting stake at Milwaukee, Monday. Best time, 2:13 1/2 over a heavy track. Harrie won the race easily, pulling up in the fastest mile and winning in a romp. Mr. Jones will start "Axie" in a $2,500 stake, "Platt Jr." in a $2,500 stake, "Florence," in a $1,000 stake, and "Sigma C." in a $500 stake at Milwaukee this week. With this bunch of speedy animals, and their past performance with other horses who have started against them this season, the local driver ought to land a nice bunch of the $11,000 stake money.

In moving into our new building this week the carrier boys have had to work over their routes, and consequently confusion followed and several patrons have missed their papers. We will appreciate reports from those not receiving their papers. Phone 63.

BUGGY WHEEL SMASHED

Second Accident Within Past Two Weeks

An unfortunate accident happened yesterday evening in front of Cassidy & Cox's shoe store, to Bert Osborne's new buggy, which he has only run a few times, which resulted in smashing a hind wheel until it was useless.

Mrs. Osborne and little child were sitting in the buggy, while Mr. Osborne was attending to some business, when a team hitched to a heavy loaded log wagon, in trying to keep away from the Buckeye Girls tent, smashed into the rig. Mr. Osborne had to purchase a new wheel before he could get home. This is the second time the unfortunate man has had his rig wrecked in the past few weeks.

MAKES FORTUNE IN GINSENG

Selman Webb, of West Third Street, Can Soon Quit the Dray Line.

BEGAN WITH TEN DOLLARS

How Back Yard Will Soon Be Valued at $10,000—How It Is Cultivated.

Have you ever seen Selman Webb of the Ginseng Patch? In the rear of the Webb home on West Third street there is a small farm—80x40 feet—that would make the average Chinaman's eyes water with envy, and cause him to covet his neighbor's goods. This patch is probably more valuable than any spot in the county, ten times its size.

Four years ago, Mr. Webb bought ten dollars worth of ginseng plant, and today they are worth over one thousand dollars. With anything like fair luck, the same plants will be worth over $10,000 in five years. That's the reason you can note a smile on Sel's face, and a merry tune coming from his lips as he goes about his daily avocation on a dray. Webb's crop is now going to seed, and the red blossoms which hold the seed make a sight worth seeing. They are put in sand for one year, then in the ground for six months, when they germinate. The seeds are worth seventy-five cents per hundred before they are stratified, but after they are ready to transplant the market price is one cent each. There is always a ready sale for the stratified seeds. Mr. Webb will harvest and sell about forty thousand this fall.

Many people throughout the United States have taken to the raising of ginseng in the past few years, and Mr. Webb has set the pace for this county. The root of the plant is exported to China, where the natives of that country use it for a cure-all, much after the manner that the people in this country used quinine a few years since. Some of our noted physicians claim that the root is devoid of any medicinal or curative powers, and it is only a faith and superstition that keeps up the sale in China.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS HELD

On Account of Non Payment on Furniture

While preparing to load his house hold goods in a car at the J. M. & I. depot this morning to move to Osgood, a attachment was issued on a part of the furniture of Albert Curry, by City Marshal Price and the goods were held. The attachment was sworn out by the Home Furniture company, from whom the furniture was purchased and on which there was yet a balance due.

WEEPS FOR HER OWN TWO BOYS

Heartbroken Mother Tells a Pitiable Tale of Separation

cries OUT FOR JUSTICE

And Declares an All Just God Will Punish Those Who Took Her Boys

With bleeding and sorrowful heart, Mrs. Ella Eakes left the Rush county court house today. The hearing of the suit in which she was suing for the possession of her two boys, inmates of the Soldiers & Sailors Orphans Home at Knightstown, was completed this morning.

The mother's eyes were filled with tears and between sobs she told a pitiable tale.

"It seems like a cold, cruel world, indeed," she said, "that a mother be denied the right to have her own flesh and blood. Those two boys love me, and want to be with me. They need a mother's care. Why yesterday, their little eyes were filled with tears when I had to leave them. They do not allow me to talk to them and my heart goes out to them. Oh, it's awful, awful, awful," continued the mother, "to think I can't have them, when they were taken from me by an illegal and unnatural process, for they did forge my name to the entry papers. But a just God will punish those instrumental in separating a mother from her own. And the only consolation I can find, is that I will see them in heaven."

Judge Sparks has taken the case under advisement

Suit Filed Today, in Circuit Court by Hallie Readle

WANTS WATSON ON W. J. BRYAN'S TRAIL

In the Campaign Now On in Oklahoma and Indian Territory

Congressman Watson is in receipt of letters and telegrams this week from the Republican Central committee of Oklahoma and Indiana Territory, asking him to make arrangements, if possible, for five or six speeches in that country, and to camp on the trail of William J. Bryan, who is devoting his energies and oratorical ability to the election of the Democratic ticket. Mr. Watson will probably probably not be able to go to the Southwest, as he will be busy in this State for some time.

SEVERAL SCHOOLS HAVE BEEN CLOSED

In Rush County on Account of Act of Last Legislature

Many schools have been abandoned in the State of Indiana this winter on account of the act of the last State legislature, compelling school trustees to do away with all schools in their townships not attended by twelve pupils.

In this county six schools have been closed and the children have been cared for in other schools the most convenient in the township. In Anderson township No. 1; Center, No. 8; Orange, No. 4; Posey, No. 8; Union, Stringtown school and in Washington township, the Lail's school has been abandoned because the attendance was below twelve.

STARTED OFF FOR FAIR TODAY

Both Weather and the Festival—Contests and Baby Parade the Features

NEW CASTLE IS COMING

Five Hundred Heading This Way on a Lake Erie Special For Tonight

The Free Fall Festival is taking on a carnival aspect today with Old Sol smiling down on the anxious spellers and leather lunged barkers, who are ever ready to give full vent to their lung powers to line up a good crowd. The shows are all up, and prepared to handle the large crowds that will surely be in attendance. Today was K. of P. day, and many out-of-town visitors will be here this evening in uniform. New Castle promises to send a delegation of over five hundred.

The Queen of the festival contest and most popular child is one of the most interesting ever held here.

Race suicide took a back seat today when the Children's Parade was on. Such a happy faced bunch of youngsters they were. Marching, calling, shouting, waving, crying, yelling, lolling, falling down, some walking fast, others slow, all parading in joyful anticipation of getting a present and a greater joy of feeling that they were part of the big festival.

You might as well let the supper dishes go tonight, and mow that grass another evening, and join the festive throng along the Midway tonight.

DRAMA DROVE THIS MAN TO INSANITY

Mimicked "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—Will be Sent to Richmond

When he attended the production of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," a few weeks ago little did Albert Deaver, the 21 year old son of Reuben Deaver, of 214th street think that he would be a raving maniac, says the New Castle Courier. After seeing the show he mimicked the dual character a few times and became so proficient as to excite wonder on the part of spectators. Soon after he lost control of himself and acted the part whether he wished to or not. The attacks came upon him with the subtleness of a serpent and try as he might he was unable to ward them off. He will be cared for at his home until received at the hospital at Richmond.

George Moore, Jr., has removed from Danville, Ind., to Rural route No. 7.

ODD FELLOWS MAKE GAIN

Indiana Shows a Very Prosperous Condition

The semi-annual report of Grand Secretary W. H. Leedy, of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. shows a considerable increase in membership and wealth of the order in Indiana during the last six months. Resources have grown to a total of $3,185,505, the receipts for the half year being $417,786. For the relief of members $116,210 has been spent, and in relief of every kind, $151,874. Total expenses for the period were $253,167.

The gain for the six months is 1065 members, 3304 having been initiated. There were 445 deaths in the order. The total membership is 74,543.

BEST JERSEY HERD IN INDIANA

John Boyd Carried Away the Blue Ribbon at the State Fair

WON THREE PREMIUMS

Captured the Young Bull Sweepstakes Against Thomas W. Lawson's Entry

Good old Rush county was in evidence at the State fair yesterday, both in point of attendance and exhibits. Probably the greatest of honor of the day—and possibly of the week—fell to John Boyd, the Jersey cattle raiser, of the new and greater "Jersey City," just below the Main street white bridge.

Mr. Boyd carried away the blue ribbon for having the best herd of Jersey cattle in Indiana. He received three first premiums: one in the class for bulls under two years, another for sweepstakes in the young bull class and the third for the best Indiana herd.

Mr. Boyd's herd was pitted against the best herds in the States, among them being the Thomas W. Lawson entry from Boston, and the Spann Farm of Texas.

Mr. Boyd is highly elated over the showing he made yesterday. He has won all the premiums in the several county fairs, where he exhibited this season.

HOPE THAT I. & C. WILL BE EXTENDED

Connersville Citizens Believe That Line Will Be Pushed Eastward Next Spring

Many have strong hope that the I. & C. traction line will be pushed on eastward early next year, says the Connersville News. In truth, it is to the best interests of that company that their line be completed as too much is at stake to let the terminal rest here. Good as the business has been since the line was opened westward, it is nothing to what could be done with a through line. This, of course, is fully recognized by President Henry, who is eager to complete the road as soon as financial conditions will permit.

The W. R. C. members met this afternoon for the purpose of arranging for the district convention to be held here next month.

Roy Thompson, the popular young base ball player of Seton, and Miss Ella Lucas, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lucas, will be married this evening.

SUNDAY SERVICE MAY BE STOPPED

Delivery of Mail on Sunday at the Postoffice May Pass Out

QUESTION OF MAIL VALUE

Love Letters Said to Have Influenced Cutting off Night Delivery

According to postal authorities it is probable that after the next session of congress the postoffices of the cities the size of Rushville will be closed on Sunday morning as far as the window delivery is concerned. The inspectors are demanding that such a law be passed. Just as strenuous in their demands for the continuance of the custom are the postmasters of the country. Whether the inspectors will be as successful in this move as they were in closing the evening window delivery in the evening remains to be seen.

Merchants consider the window delivery system on Sunday morning indispensable. They are in the habit of looking over mail which comes after the Saturday evening on Sunday morning and often answering it. Of course this would not affect those who have boxes. Others also are so accustomed to going to the office on Sunday morning that they would be greatly perturbed should the plan be discontinued.

However the inspectors have been noting carefully the amount of mail delivered on this occasion, it is claimed. It is not the amount of mail so much as the importance that will have influence for the continuance or withdrawal of the privilege. The importance is what the inspectors are careful to note. Business letters are easily distinguished from the ordinary love letter by the sharp eyes of the inspectors. It was love letters that caused the department to withdraw the privilege of the window during the evening, it is said. In many cities it was the duty of the postal inspector to station himself at some place of advantage in the postoffice and view the character of the persons who called for mail. These characters were noted. In a comparison it was found that the largest per cent of callers were young ladies. Next a record of the letters called for was taken and they had the earmarks of love letters. Whether the Sunday morning mail will prove to be of no more value from its external appearance that love letters will be determined when congress meets this winter.

HAPPY CHIEF WAITS FOR ANOTHER MOON

O. I. Norris Will Make Race For Great Janior Sagamore Next Month

The smile that won't come off of O. I. Norris' face is becoming a familiar one in Indiana. Sunday's Indianapolis Star contained the "smile," and the following:

"The members of Tanpah Tribe No. 102, Imp'd O. R. M., of Rushville, and in fact all of the Red Men of that district, are behind a well-organized movement to elect Oliver C. Norris, of Rushville, great junior sagamore of the Great Council, Indiana Red Men, at the meeting of the Great Council, to be held in Indianapolis in October.

Mr. Norris is known as "The Happy Chief." He was a candidate in 1906, but landed second at the finish of the race. Mr. Norris has been prominent in Red Men's work both in his district and throughout the State for many years. His campaign in charge of a committee composed of members of Tanpah Tribe of Rushville, consisting of J. T. Arbuckle, T. E. Gregg and P. A. Evans.

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, SEPTEMBER 11, 1907.

Whatever the ultimate decision in the Chicago & Alton case, there are other prosecutions that are under way and soon as the collecting of evidence reaches a stage that justifies it.

An exchange makes a point worth thinking about when it says that even Wall street will not claim that the president's recent speech caused any depression in the price of farm products.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat interprets human nature well, and makes a mighty good paragraph when it says that both the bears and the bulls in Wall street predict a panic when they bet wrong on the market.

Telephones without wires have been installed in two of the government's battleships. Now, if it could only establish some sort of arrangement by which the demagogues of the country could be transformed into megaphones without voices, the general condition of things would be infinitely improved.

The Evansville Journal-News very properly says that had Caleb Powers been given a fair trial in Kentucky there never would have been any question of the outcome of the Goebel

GOVERNOR AROUSED

Rumors of "Lid Tilting" Will Be Rig- idly Investigated.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 11.—Word reaches Indianapolis from Lafayette, Muncie, Anderson, Marion and other places that the "lid" is off. It is stated that word has gone to the saloon men and gamblers that new liberty and immunity is to be theirs. Saloon men say they do not know the source of the new edict, or how long it is to continue. But they assert, some of them, that they have had the "good word," and that they are making hay according to the relaxed vigilance of the police. There is much speculation as to the source of the report of the tilting of the lids in various towns. At the governor's office no credence is put in the story, but an investigation will be made as to the truth of the rumor, nevertheless. If lids are found to be tilted, as the tale recounts, those same lids will be yanked back in place and screwed down with deft dispatch and earnest twists of executive muscle.

Indiana Odd Fellows are learning something of the two-cent fare question. They intended going to St. Paul for the sovereign lodge of the order, next week. Fully 1,000 of the Indiana Odd Fellows planned the trip. Fewer than 100 will make it. The railroad companies, in retaliation for two-cent fare laws in this and other states, are holding the lodges as well as others, to the straight car fare. No low rates are granted. Hence the cutting of Odd Fellows' representation from Indiana by 90 per cent for the sovereign lodge. Marion and Hartford City cantons of the Patriarchs Militant will attend, but there will be no other large Indiana parties. The grand lodge will meet in Indianapolis Nov. 20 and 21. At that time E. Hastings of Washington becomes grand master. H. M. Kean of Ireland, by promotion, will become deputy grand master. Grand warden is the center of interest, because of a contest for the place. Many candidates are out for this office, the stepping-stone to higher things. They are: J. M. Pyle, Marion; H. C. Ray, Shelbyville; C. W. Blackburn, Muncie; George Rowan, Carmel; O. G. Davis, Williamsburg; J. H. Carroll, Indianapolis; D. J. Troyer, Goshen; A. L. Miller, Terre Haute; H. E. Jones, East Chicago; J. M. Stipp, Winamac; F. E. Cooper, Hammond; W. P. Ross, Rochester; P. H. Pollinger, North Manchester, and A. W. Wolever, Delphi. For grand treasurer, George B. Lindsay of Kokomo is opposing the incumbent, W. H. Morris of Frankfort, and for grand trustee, Benjamin Franklin of Indianapolis, present holder of the office, is opposed by Thomas R. Jessup of Richmond. Grand Secretary Leedy and Grand Representative Jacob Joel of Crawfordsville have no opposition.

Nineteen Indiana melons, all Indiana stock and prize beauties in their class, were devoured by the state-house employes, officers and attaches Tuesday. It was the annual water-melon feast. Governor Hanly, with murder mystery, since the saying that "murder will out" is as true today as it ever was. When a State's highest court reverses the findings of a trial court three times, it is time the politicians governing the lower courts of Kentucky would give way to fairness. It is this one thing that has brought the managers of Kentucky democracy to a realization of the fact that their power is slipping away from them, and deservedly so. As the Courier-Journal says: "Kentucky is the worst governed State in the union."

Coxey is out with a new scheme. He would have the State operate the railroads and other public utilities. He would have these holdings "taken over by the State, payment being made by the issue of long term bonds, these latter being deposited with the federal government in return for an issue of currency to the face value of the securities less 1 per cent, for the expense flotation." In similar way he "would extend this idea to counties and municipalities. He declares the idea of controlling the big corporations while their ownership rests with private interests absurd, and says that public ownership will be the veritable salvation of the country." So here is another man who has been stealing the Nebraska thunder.

knife in hand, opened the largest of the melons, a 68-pound sample. The main cutting was done by John C. Billheimer and others of the state tax board. Will Freeman and Sam Shutt assisted. Judges of the higher courts mingled with janitors, stenographers, reporters, dignified officials of state and melon-loving hangers-on, in a flow of soul and brotherly affection. Fred Sims, bachelor, secretary of state, noted if not notorious because of his diffidence in the presence of the fair sex, so far lost his ordinary embarrassment in the excitement of the feast as to carry on sprightly conversation with two or three somewhat surprised maidens.

Everett E. Neal of Hamilton county, now a deputy in the office of auditor of state, has announced formally his purpose to make the race for reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, subject to the action of the Republican state convention.

Mrs. Phillips Under Bond. Cleveland, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Charlotte Phillips, accused of the murder of her husband, J. J. Phillips, a prominent coal man, was taken in an invalid's carriage to the town hall in East Cleveland and placed under $7,500 bond on the charge of second degree murder. She at once returned to her home and the guards were removed. Mrs. Phillips did not leave the invalid's carriage. There was no arraignment.

Shot Fired From Porch. Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 11.—Edward Garrity was shot after a quarrel in a saloon with Ward McBride and an Italian whose name is unknown, and who has not been arrested. Garrity is in a dying condition at the hospital. He was passing the house where McBride lives near the saloon, when the shot was fired from the porch. McBride has been committed to jail.

The Lusitania Leading. Queenstown, Sept. 11.—The steamer Haverford, which arrived here last evening from Philadelphia, reports that she passed the Lusitania at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning and the Lucania three and a half hours later. It is calculated that if the Lusitania continues this same rate of gain she will reach New York between 22 to 24 hours ahead of the Lucania.

Washington, Sept. 11.—By an order issued from the war department, Second Lieutenant Phil H. Sheridan, who for the past two years has been one of the military aides to the president at the White House, is directed to join Troop D, Fifth cavalry, at Fort Huachuca, N. M.

Vice President Will Be There. Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—The directors of the Kentucky state fair have received a telegram from Vice President Fairbanks, accepting an invitation to attend the fair which will be held in this city next week at Church Hill Downs. Mr. Fairbanks will attend the fair Friday, Sept. 20, "Southern Indiana day," and will deliver an address. Preparations are already under way to give him a notable reception.

TAYLOR SKEPTICAL

Former Governor of Kentucky Doubts Sincerity of Court's Action.

SUSPENSION OF WARRANT

Could Be Revoked at Any Time, Is the Argument of Distinguished Sojourner in Indiana.

A Formal Order Has Been Entered In Frankfort Court Suspending Warrant For Arrest.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 11.—The judge of the circuit court here has entered an order suspending the warrant against ex-Governor W. S. Taylor of Kentucky, now of Indianapolis, granting him immunity from arrest if he will return to this state and testify at the trial of Caleb Powers, who is charged with being an accomplice in the murder of William Goebel.

The action was taken upon the recommendation of Commonwealth Attorney Franklin, who said the object was to get Taylor to take the witness stand. Taylor was indicted by the Franklin county grand jury in 1900, charged with complicity in the murder of Goebel, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. Judge Stout, in suspending the warrants, states that Taylor may now return and testify for Powers without fear of molestation.

The Skeptical Mr. Taylor. Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—W. S. Taylor, ex-governor of Kentucky, was inclined to be skeptical about the immunity alleged to come from the suspension of the warrant for his arrest by the judge at Frankfort, Ky. "The suspension of the warrant could be revoked at any time," said Mr. Taylor. "It would afford no real immunity." Asked to discuss the matter further, Mr. Taylor said that his statement given out some weeks ago contained a full answer to this, as well as other questions that have arisen since. In this statement he asked for a bench of judges, half Democrats and half Republicans, before he would return.

An Oklahoma Tragedy. Weatherford, Oklahoma, Sept. 11.—Crazed by jealousy over attention paid to his wife by another man, Lee Leedy, proprietor of the City hotel here, fired three shots into his wife's body, killing her instantly. Two hours later Leedy was shot and instantly killed by a posse of citizens, who surrounded him in a canyon a mile from town when he attempted to make his escape. After the inquest the coroner's jury waited upon S. D. Fry, a piano tuner, and ordered him to leave town.

Lawrence of Hot Springs, Ark., broke the world's running record for a half-mile track in the Kansas derby yesterday. The Bear left the entire field and ran ahead alone. He came under the wire in 1:41½. A year ago last spring the horse was bought by S. H. Gardwell of Hot Springs, for $50.

Siberian Train Robbers. Tomsk, Siberia, Sept. 11.—The Siberian postal train was held up by highwaymen at a point thirteen miles from here. They separated the engine from the freight car and then seized $50,000, with which they escaped.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED

Prominent Contractor at Whiting Starts For Chicago and Hasn't Been Seen Since.

George F. Stoll Had $5,000 With Him and It Is Feared He Fell Into Evil Hands.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 11.—The disappearance of George F. Stoll, a prominent contractor of Whiting, and a real estate man, is the talk of the Calumet region, where he is generally known. He left his home at Whiting on Aug. 27, intending to go to Chicago to see about a contract for erecting a theater at Gary. He had several thousand dollars in his possession, which he had collected for contracts at Gary.

Since his departure there has been no tidings of him. Private detectives were employed to get trace, and the Chicago police have now been called in. Mr. Stoll collected $5,000 of $15,000 due on work, and he carried this amount with him to pay bills in Chicago. Stoll is wealthy and of fine reputation, with a wife and five children. His wife believes he was followed from Gary by persons knowing of the money in his possession, and that he was waylaid and killed in Chicago.

MRS. GLASGO UNCONCERNED

Authorities Recognize Her as a Woman Not Easily Stampeded.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 11.—During the investigation of the killing of Edward Glasgo, for which his widow stands accused of murder, witnesses were found who testified before the coroner that two shots were heard, and after an interval of a few seconds a third shot, instead of first one shot and then two, as has been asserted by the authorities investigating the case. The defense is laying great store on this testimony, as disputing the theory of the state.

Glasgo had two bullets in his brain, either one of which, it is asserted, would have caused paralysis. Mrs. Glasgo has a bullet wound in the left breast. It is the theory of the prosecution that if Glasgo committed suicide he could have fired only one shot into his brain before losing consciousness, and he would have been unable to shoot the second time.

Mrs. Glasgo remains in jail, cool and unconcerned, and she does not seem to be worrying over the condition in which she has been placed. She displays remarkable self-possession, and at all times is mistress of herself. She is thirty years old, six years older than her dead husband. The authorities are becoming impressed with the belief that they are dealing with a cool woman, who is not going to lose her head nor do anything to injure her case.

May Lose Their Licenses.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 11.—Eight men are under arrest, two men are hovering between life and death, and a third is in a serious condition, the result of fights in local saloons. John Mandios was stabbed near the heart, and he is in St. Joseph hospital in a critical condition. Anton Szalal fell in his doorway after spending the night in a local saloon, where he was given "knock-out drops," and he will probably die. Alex Toth is in a serious condition, the result of knife wounds over the left eye. The saloons were open after legal hours, and three are likely to be closed.

Tragic End of Pleasure Trip.

Mishawaka, Ind., Sept. 11.—Edward Scott, twenty years old, with a companion, went to Diamond lake, a leading summer resort in southern Michigan, and, as they were about to return from their pleasure trip, Scott was caught by a freight train and killed. Both the young men had money sufficient for regular trains, but they chose the freight train because of the novelty, and one forfeited his life in doing so.

Now Knows How It Feels.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 11.—After imposing a fine on Edward Neal on the charge of intoxication, in which condition he went home and whipped his wife, Mayor Swain ordered him taken to the cellar of the city hall and subjected to a good whipping. The police obeyed the order of the mayor and Neal was sent home crying, after he had received the whipping.

Captain Streeter Regains Freedom.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 11.—Captain George Wellington Streeter, the de-throned czar of the St. Joe river, has been released on bond, Samuel Leeper posting $1,050 in cash for his appearance when wanted to answer for carrying firearms and for assault with intent to kill.

Bedford, Ind., Sept. 11.—William Powell, a young man twenty-four years old, employed in the Southern Indiana shops as an engine wiper, was caught between an engine and a sandhouse and instantly killed. He was dragged fifty feet and every bone in his body was crushed.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Rushville People

A little backache at first. Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders quickly follow; Diabetes and finally Bright's disease. This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Don't take this course. Follow the advice of a Rushville citizen. Mason Maxey, 836 W. Third street, Rushville, Ind., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store did me more good than any remedy I ever used. I had been subject to bladder trouble for years. It had become chronic and I despaired of ever getting any relief. The kidney secretions were irregular, too frequent and were accompanied by pain. Finally I thought I would try Doan's Kidney Pills, as they were highly recommended for such complaints, and went to F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store for them. They relieved me promptly of the trouble and I believe that a continued use of the remedy will completely cure me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Boys Witness Horrid Crime.

Baltimore, Sept. 11.—Arrested on a charge of criminal assault committed upon two eight-year-old girls, Joseph Green, colored, twenty-one years old, is now held by the police as the alleged murderer of a tramp whose body the negro is said to have afterward fed to a drove of hogs. The accusers of the negro in the matter of the alleged murder are two nine-year-old boys, brothers of the little girls, who say they saw the man's victim murdered and the body given over to the hogs, after which the negro threw the bones into the river.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

"I have tried honorably and failed. You have tried honorably and failed. Isn't the sting of impotent failure enough to meet without striving against a hopeless love?" He approached her and said softly: "I love you, Shirley—don't drive me to desperation. Must I be punished because you have failed? It's unfair. The sins of the fathers should not be visited upon the children."

"But they are—it's the law," said Shirley, with resignation.

"The law?" he echoed.

"Yes, the law," insisted the girl; "man's law, not God's, the same unjust law that punishes my father—man's law which is put into the hands of the powerful of the earth to strike at the weak."

She sank into a chair and, covering up her face, wept bitterly. Between her sobs she cried brokenly:

"I believed in the power of love to soften your father's heart, I believed that with God's help I could bring him to see the truth. I believed that truth and love would make him see the light, but it hasn't. I stayed on and on, hoping against hope until the time has gone by and it's too late to save him—too late! What can I do now? My going to Washington is a forlorn hope, a last, miserable, forlorn hope, and in this hour, the darkest of all, you ask me to think of myself—my love, your love, your happiness, your future, my future! Ah, wouldn't it be sublime selfishness?"

Jefferson knelt down beside the chair and, taking her hand in his, tried to reason with her and comfort her.

"Listen, Shirley," he said; "do not do something you will surely regret. You are punishing me not only because I have failed, but because you have failed too. It seems to me that if you believed it possible to accomplish so much, if you had so much faith—that you have lost your faith rather quickly. I believed in nothing, I had no faith, and yet I have not lost hope."

She shook her head and gently withdrew her hand.

"It is useless to insist, Jefferson. Until my father is cleared of this stain our lives—yours and mine—must lie apart."

Jefferson stared at his father as if he feared he were out of his mind.

"What do you mean? Are you?" he ejaculated.

"Go—go; leave her to me," commanded the financier. "Slam the door when you go out, and she'll think we've both gone. Then come up again presently."

The stratagem succeeded admirably. Jefferson gave the door a vigorous pull, and John Ryder stood quiet, waiting for the girl to emerge from sanctuary. He did not have to wait long. The door soon opened, and Shirley came out slowly. She had her hat on and was drawing on her gloves, for through her window she had caught a glimpse of the cab standing at the curb. She started on seeing Ryder standing there motionless, and she would have retreated had he not intercepted her.

"I wish to speak to you, Miss—Rosemore," he began.

"I have nothing to say," answered Shirley frigidly.

"Why did you do this?" he asked, holding out the check.

"Because I do not want your money," she replied, with hauteur.

"It was yours. You earned it," he said.

"No, I came here hoping to influence you to help my father. The work I did was part of the plan. It happened to fall my way. I took it as a means to get to your heart."

"But it is yours. Please take it. It will be useful."

"No," she said scornfully. "I can't tell you how low I should fall in my own estimation if I took your money. Money," she added, with ringing contempt, "why, that's all there is to you! It's your god! Shall I make your god my god? No, thank you, Mr. Ryder!"

"Am I as bad as that?" he asked wistfully.

"You are as bad as that!" she answered decisively.

"So bad that I contaminate even good money?" He spoke lightly, but she noticed that he winced.

"Money itself is nothing," replied the girl. "It's the spirit that gives it, the spirit that receives it, the spirit that earns it, the spirit that spends it. Money helps to create happiness. It also creates misery. It's an engine of destruction when not properly used. It destroys individuals as it does nations. It has destroyed you, for it has warped your soul."

"Go on," he laughed bitterly. "I like to hear you."

"No, you don't, Mr. Ryder; no you don't, for deep down in your heart you know that I am speaking the truth. Money and the power it gives you has dried up the wellsprings of your heart."

He affected to be highly amused at her words, but behind the mask of callous indifference the man suffered. Her words seared him as with a red-hot iron. She went on:

"In the barbaric ages they fought for possession, but they fought openly. The feudal barons fought for what they stole, but it was a fair fight. They didn't strike in the dark. At least they gave a man a chance for his life. But when you modern barons of industry amusement, half admiration, on the financier's face as he again turned toward the door.

"It's like her, just like her," he muttered.

He knocked boldly at the door.

"Who's there?" cried Shirley from within.

"It is I—Mr. Ryder. I wish to speak to you."

"I must beg you to excuse me," came the answer. "I cannot see you."

Jefferson interfered.

"Why do you want to add to the girl's misery? Don't you think she has suffered enough?"

"Do you know what she has done?" said Ryder, with pretended indignation. "She has insulted me grossly. I never was so humiliated in my life. She has returned the check I sent her last night in payment for her work on my biography. I mean to make her take that money. It's hers. She needs it. Her father's a beggar. She must take it back. It's only flaunting her contempt for me in my face, and I won't permit it."

"I don't think her object in refusing that money was to flaunt contempt in your face or in any way humiliate you," answered Jefferson. "She feels she has been sailing under false colors and desires to make some reparation."

"And so she sends me back my money, feeling that will pacify me, perhaps repair the injury she has done me, perhaps buy me into entering into her plan of helping her father, but it won't. It only increases my determination to see her and her!"— Suddenly changing the topic, he asked, "When do you leave us?"

"Now—at once—that is, I—don't know," answered Jefferson, embarrassed. "The fact is my faculties are numbed. I seem to have lost my power of thinking. Father," he exclaimed, "you see what a wreck you have made of our lives!"

"Now, don't moralize," replied his father testily, "as if your own selfishness in desiring to possess that girl wasn't the mainspring of all your actions." Waving his son out of the room, he added: "Now, leave me alone with her for a few moments. Perhaps I can make her listen to reason."

Jefferson stared at his father as if he feared he were out of his mind.

"What do you mean? Are you?" he ejaculated.

"Go—go; leave her to me," commanded the financier. "Slam the door when you go out, and she'll think we've both gone. Then come up again presently."

"You are as bad as that!" she answered decisively.

"So bad that I contaminate even good money?" He spoke lightly, but she noticed that he winced.

"Money itself is nothing," replied the girl. "It's the spirit that gives it, the spirit that receives it, the spirit that earns it, the spirit that spends it. Money helps to create happiness. It also creates misery. It's an engine of destruction when not properly used. It destroys individuals as it does nations. It has destroyed you, for it has warped your soul."

"Go on," he laughed bitterly. "I like to hear you."

"No, you don't, Mr. Ryder; no you don't, for deep down in your heart you know that I am speaking the truth. Money and the power it gives you has dried up the wellsprings of your heart."

He affected to be highly amused at her words, but behind the mask of callous indifference the man suffered. Her words seared him as with a red-hot iron. She went on:

"In the barbaric ages they fought for possession, but they fought openly. The feudal barons fought for what they stole, but it was a fair fight. They didn't strike in the dark. At least they gave a man a chance for his life. But when you modern barons of industry

PROMISES A TREAT

Indianapolis Star Will Give Fine Art Supplement

The Indianapolis Sunday Star is planning to give its readers a very pleasant surprise in the near future. It has contracted for a number of reproductions of famous paintings in water color, and will present them as a supplement.

The pictures are printed on excellent paper, in colors, and are by far the most attractive supplement of this nature ever offered by any paper. As medallions, they make a most attractive ornament and in this form, they will grace the walls of many Indiana homes. This supplement will be worth more than the price of the Sunday Star, which contains more reading matter and bright, attractive, and at the same time instructive Sunday feature articles than any paper in the country. The woman's section appeals particularly to women.

All the railroads in Michigan have agreed to adopt the two-cent passenger rate law when it takes effect Sept. 28.

A number of the newspapers of Italy advise France to settle the troublesome Moroccan question by marching on Fez.

The Kansas railroads have decided to ignore the railroad commission of that state and refuse to obey its order requiring a two-cent passenger rate.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Omer Collier this morning, a boy.

James Snabell, of Richland township, is reported dangerously ill.

Deby Green has sold his Addison Blue Bull horse "Dennis," to Charles McCormick of Milroy.

Mrs. Job Stevens, who has been quite ill at her home on West First street, is slowly improving.

We experienced two of the melancholy days the first of this week, followed by the annual stove pipe time.

Cary Gray, of this city, who is employed as motorman on the I. & O. is moving with his family to Connersville.

Mrs. Mary Green, grandmother of Dr. Frank Green, is quite ill since her return from Shelbyville, where she spent the summer.

Almost every car on the I. O. traction line was a double header in order to accommodate the large crowds attending the State fair.

The boys of the Graham high school have organized a foot ball team with Benny Sparks as captain and Gurney Abernathy as assistant.

Robert L. Newkirk, of Center township, is arranging to move to this city. Robert K. Sharp has rented his farm and will take possession soon.

The Huddleston family, of which there are several members in this county, will hold their annual reunion at Jackson Park, near Cambridge City.

Mrs. Jesse Scott, who was injured in a runaway Saturday evening, near New Salem, is getting along nicely. It is found that her worst injury is a broken arm.

Milady, who is abreast of the styles, will wear sleeves of a different color from the remainder of her dress this fall and winter. We are eventually getting to the clown suit effect. Wonder if they won't soon wear a star or a half moon on the back of the skirt?

An act of charity which speaks well for the citizens of the little town of Raleigh and community, will be put into execution this week, when a festival will be given in the town hall on Friday night for the benefit of Mrs. Wright, widow of the late Samuel Wright, who died last week.

Indianapolis Star: W. O. Runyon, formerly the chief clerk of W. O. Shoemaker, when superintendent of the Indianapolis division of the O., H. & D. line, today takes the position of agent of the company at Glenwood, which is becoming quite an important station on the O., H. & D. line.

The Hunyaks employed on the sewers here surely must have been expert ring throwers in the old country. Several of them gathered about the stand where knives are given—"the knife you ring, remember, is the one you carry away"—and for every ten cents they invested, they received about fifty cents worth of the flash cutlery. They might have been "shill-lipers."

Richmond Palladium: "At a meeting of the commercial club Monday evening it was announced that Congressman James E. Watson had been invited to address the association at the meetings in October, his subject being "Ship Subsidy." The meeting will be made one of importance and members of the club will be privileged to invite friends. The address of Mr. Watson will be one of several that will be given during this year."

T. Melville Greenlee, S. C., is one of the busiest men in this city this week. In addition to the regular work which falls on the street commissioner's shoulders, he is cleaning the down-town streets and alleys on account of the festival. Mr. Greenlee is making one of the best street commissioners ever employed here, for he has his whole heart in the work. A good commissioner is needed at this time, for the streets will be in sore need of much work following the completion of the sewer.
